"My putting has just been so bad lately, and it's starting to put a hurt on my score," Reller said. "The first few matches I couldn't miss my putts and I was hitting everything. But now I've been three-putting, and it's been really hurting me."

While the sectional is still more than a month away, the boys' golf season is moving rather quickly, and teams are finding out how they should fair the remainder of the season.

Both teams have their respective goals, but mostly they are hoping to see continued improvement from now through the postseason.

"We've been continuing to lower our average, and that's been a combination of different things," Matthews said. "We've stayed away from penalty strokes. Now it's just a matter of getting better at scoring and hitting the ball decent."

Begle added: "We've had a lot of nine-hole matches, and right after, guys are going back out to practice. That stuff is good to see. We all understand we need to continue to get better, and these guys are willing to try and do that."
