

Bombers drop 3rd consecutive game

From Herald Staff Reports

It's been a rough start to the season for the Dubois County Bombers. After jumping out to a 4-2 lead over the Paducah Chiefs on Tuesday evening, the Bombers were defeated 8-4, as they suffered their third consecutive loss.

Zuriel Collins and Marcus Hill both drove in runs in the loss, while Austin Duffy led the way with two total hits. Hill and Tyler Van Pelt recorded the only other base knocks for the Bombers on the night.

Andrew Schimmoler took the loss on the mound, as he gave up five runs (one earned) and two hits in one inning of work. Chase Rudy started the game and lasted four innings, while allowing just three hits. He also walked four batters and struck out five.

Dubois County will travel to Franklin tonight for the first-ever meeting against the Duellers, the newest team in the Ohio Valley League. After that, the Bombers will host four straight home games from Thursday through Sunday.

Durant tops free agent list

By The Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif. — This was already going to be a summer filled with fireworks in the NBA.

Nothing has changed.

Kevin Durant's Achilles injury, the severity of which isn't yet confirmed, means he probably won't be able to play much — if any — next season. But this is a testament to how much he overshadows much of the NBA landscape: Durant will still likely dictate how the free-agency dominoes fall this summer.

Durant could exercise his $31.5 million player option and stay with the Warriors, and that's likely going to be his worst-case financial scenario. He could opt out and sign a longer deal to stay in the Bay. Or he could opt out, sign elsewhere and start collecting massive checks from either the New York Knicks or Brooklyn Nets or Los Angeles Clippers or someone else.

Kyrie Irving's decision could hinge on what Durant does. Kawhi Leonard's decision could be affected by what Durant does. How the Knicks, Nets, Clippers, Dallas Mavericks, Los Angeles Lakers, Atlanta Hawks and all the other teams who have cap space will start spending their money on June 30 ... it all will be determined, at least on some level, by what Durant does.

If he stays in Golden State, that's more money for everyone else.

If he hits the open market, it'll be about what team wants to gamble.

Here's a tip to those teams that wanted Durant before he got hurt again in Game 5 of the NBA Finals.

If the opportunity presents itself, sign him.

Free agency usually isn't about just one year. It's about the long haul. Durant is only 30 years old. He's not a high-flyer who plays above the rim all the time. He's not a plodding big man. He's not someone with a lot of gray in the goatee. He's a world-class scorer and jump-shooter in his prime. A year from now, if the recovery from the Achilles injury indeed takes that long, he'll be far from over the hill.
