Tribute

That's the year his grandfather Gus Bell helped the Reds tie the then-MLB record for home runs with 221.

"Wearing a uniform like that is an honor," said Bell, whose father Buddy also played for the Reds. "You think about all the great players, the great people who wore those uniforms. It really means a lot."

■ WHAT ABOUT THE CURRENT REDS?

After four straight last-place finishes, the Reds have overhauled their pitching and added past All-Star outfielders Yasiel Puig and Matt Kemp for 2019.

"It's critical because our job on the business side of this franchise is to wrap the show around the game on the field," Castellini said. "We were already throwing a great party ... It's important that you have that performance on the field, because that good time can only go so far."

Lifelong fan Steve Pohlman, 47, and son Tyler, 18, turned out for the team's recent winter caravan tour and will be at 150th anniversary events.

"It's something I'll be able to tell my kids and grandkids about," Tyler said. As for the Reds' recent struggles: "We've just got to stick with it. This is Cincinnati baseball."
